

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An applicator includes a base portion carrying an applicator element, and a handle portion rotably mounted on the base portion to turn about a fixed axis of rotation. The handle portion may have a longitudinal axis. The axis of rotation and the longitudinal axis of the handle portion may not be mutually perpendicular.